COVID-19: JUSTICE RESPONSES FOR COMMUNITY SUPERVISION
AGENDA FOR COVID-19 VIRTUAL MEETING

- Welcome
- Amanda Essex, NCSL senior policy specialist
- Moderated Discussion
  - Kelly Mitchell, executive director, Robina Institute of Criminal Law and Criminal Justice
  - Kathy Waters, director, Arizona Adult Probation Services Division
- Q&A

This virtual meeting is made possible through the generous support of The Pew Charitable Trusts' public safety performance project.
NOTES FOR TODAY’S VIRTUAL MEETING

- Type your questions in the chat box.
- Questions will be read by the moderator.
- This meeting will be recorded. The recording and slides will be publicly posted: https://www.ncsl.org/research/civil-and-criminal-justice/justice-responses-to-covid-19-ncsl-virtual-meetings-resources.aspx
4.5 million
1 in 55 U.S. adults is on probation or parole, but there is significant geographic variation.
• Enact alternatives to arrest, incarceration, and supervision.
• Implement evidence-based policies centered on risks and needs.
• Adopt shorter supervision sentences and focus on goals and incentives.
• Establish effective and appropriate supervision conditions.
• Develop individualized conditions for payment of legal financial obligations.
• Reduce use of and pathways to incarceration.
• Support community supervision agencies.
About a Fifth of People Released From State Prisons Are Sent Back for Technical Violations of Supervision
Outcomes for those released from 2004-07

© 2013 The Pew Charitable Trusts
TECHNICAL VIOLATIONS: LIMIT INCARCERATION

NCSL, January 2018
TECHNICAL VIOLATIONS: AUTHORIZE SUPERVISION AGENCY TO DISPOSE