

50 State Afterschool Network: Scan of Quality Systems

Introduction

American Institutes for Research (AIR), as part of the Afterschool Technical Assistance Collaborative (ATAC), supports the C.S. Mott Foundation-funded statewide afterschool network on topics related to quality systems. To better understand the landscape of quality systems that exists in the afterschool field, AIR conducted an initial scan of network efforts related to quality systems in 2013. The information in the current document represents AIR's September 2017 update of this scan.

This scan of quality systems focuses on afterschool quality standards, assessment tools, core competencies for afterschool program staff, credential systems, and quality rating and improvement systems (QRIS). These efforts can be driven by the network, the state education agency or other government department (e.g., health and human services, child and family services), or other organizations or intermediaries.

In the sections that follow, we provide an overview of the landscape of quality among all statewide afterschool networks (including active hyperlinks to all available documents), as well as maps that display that landscape. If you are interested in sharing more about your network's efforts to build a system of quality, we would appreciate hearing from you. Please contact us via e-mail (SANSupport@air.org) to learn more about participating in a case study.
