

Voices from the Classroom: A teacher's perspective on evaluation in Colorado

Evaluation in Colorado: A Teacher's Perspective

---

- Most educators are hopeful that the new evaluation system will be:
  - Rigorous
  - Effective
  - Fair
  - Comprehensive
  - Consistent
  - Transparent

Involving All Key Players

---

- In the current educational system, teachers are often at the bottom of a hierarchical structure. To successfully implement new policies, we must shift this structure. All players have an equal voice in the process.

What Can We Do Together?

---

- Continue to support legislation that promotes a bright future for our educators and students. Create and fund evaluation systems that support strong classroom practice.
- There are many teachers willing and eager to be involved—seek them out!
- Follow @teachingquality on twitter to share in the exciting work of teachers leaders such as the the members of the Denver NMI.

new millennium

An Initiative of the Center for Teaching Quality