ASSISTANCE

Proceeds from the sale of the Boot Campaign’s “Give Back” combat boots and apparel, general public donations, and corporate sponsorships are used to back programs caring for the growing number of wounded military personnel. The Boot Campaign looks at what is relevant, and what is needed, and provides the funds necessary to support much needed military assistance programs.

"A lot of young veterans went in the military for good reasons," said Wheeler. "But the skill sets they picked up were not advanced technical skills. It's a problem when they return to civilian life with skills that apply in combat. A lot of companies will look at them and say, 'We don't need an infantryman.'"

William Wheeler, president of the Veteran Corps of America
