Acquisitions –April 2014

CAMPAIGNS & ELECTIONS

1. Cannon, Lou. "Voter ID." Capitol Journal. Vol. XXII. No. 15. May 19, 2014. pg. 1-4. (A series of state and federal courts have slowed the steady march toward stricter voter identification requirements. It is still too early to know what impact those legal decisions will have.)

CHILDREN, YOUTH & FAMILIES

2. Brown, Sarah Alice & Anne Teigen. "Roca: a rock for the at-risk." State Legislatures. Vol. 40. No. 5. May 2014. pg. 23-25. (A program in Massachusetts is successfully transforming the lives of the most troubled young men.)

COMMUNICATIONS & MEDIA

3. Greenberg, Pam. "Something to like." Capitol Ideas. Vol. 40. No. 4. April 2014. pg. 16-20. (Social media offers lawmakers a way to keep citizens informed and to share unfiltered perspectives about state issues that are receiving dwindling coverage through more traditional media outlets.)

CORRECTIONS

4. Lawrence, Alison. "Managing corrections costs." National Conference of State Legislatures. Denver, CO. Feb. 2014. 18 pg. (This report examines corrections budget trends, cost-conserving changes to sentencing and corrections policies, actions taken to operate prisons more efficiently, and federal initiatives that provide support and assistance to states.) NCSL. Corrections.

COURTS

5. Leonard, Meghan E. & Joseph V. Ross. "Consensus and cooperation on state supreme courts." State Politics & Policy Quarterly. Vol. 14. No. 1. March 2014. pg. 3-28. (Judicial elections can have a more persistent and meaningful effect on judicial decision making than previously thought.)

6. Anderson, Tim. "Full court pressure." Stateline Midwest. Vol. 23. No. 4. April 2014. pg. 1+. (Recent Supreme Court decision in Kansas is a reminder of the power of judiciary to shape state school funding.)

DRUGS & DRUG TESTING

7. Friedman, Jane. "Treating addiction." CQ Researcher. Vol. 24. No. 17. May 3, 2014. pg. 386-403. (Scientists and doctors are still debating what kind of disease addiction is, and about which treatments work.)

DRUNKEN DRIVING

8. Wines, Lawrence E. DWI Experts and the Science of Chemical Tests. second edition. published by the Missouri Bar. Jefferson City, MO. KFM 8097.8.W5. 2014. (Experts for driving while intoxicated cases come from many disciplines and have various levels of experience, and some caution should be taken when choosing an expert.)

ECONOMIC DEVELOPMENT

9. Erickson, Kurt. "TI fed." Illinois Issues. Vol. XI. No. 5. May 2014. pg. 31-33. (Tax Increment Financing districts in Illinois continue to emerge despite concerns.)

10. Tomaka, Laura. "Illinois panel holding hearings on whether tax-break programs for business really help state economy." Stateline Midwest. Vol. 23. No. 4. April 2014. pg. 3. (A series of high-profile requests by companies wanting special tax breaks from Illinois in order to stay in the state have raised questions about whether the state's business incentive programs actually result in job and economic growth.)

11. Ehisen, Rich. "A charged situation." Capitol Journal. Vol. XXII. No. 14. May 12, 2014. pg. 1-5. (Electric car maker Tesla is at the cutting edge of automotive technology. But its direct-to-consumers sales model cuts too close to the bone for some states.)

EDUCATION

12. Wheeler, Charles N. III. "One plan to change school funding shines without pizzaz." Illinois Issues. Vol. XI. No. 5. May 2014. pg. 37-38. (As Illinois General Assembly girds for the final month of its spring session, the spotlight is on a handful of high-profile issues, topped by crafting a budget for the 2015 fiscal year that starts July 1.)

13. Anderson, Tim. "Full court pressure." Stateline Midwest. Vol. 23. No. 4. April 2014. pg. 1+. (Recent Supreme Court decision in Kansas is a reminder of the power of judiciary to shape state school funding.)

14. "Returning 'decision' to school discipline decisions: an analysis of recent, anti-zero tolerance legislation." Washington University Law Review. Vol. 91. No. 3. 2014. pg. 757-784. (This note surveys the harm of zero tolerance policies raised by numerous scholars over the past 15 years and focuses on recent legislative efforts to discourage and eliminate these policies.)

15. Rosen, Anne Farris. "School discipline." CQ Researcher. Vol. 24. No. 18. May 9, 2014. pg. 409-417. (Should zero-tolerance laws be revised?)
