Lisa Soronen is the executive director of the State and Local Legal Center (SLLC). In this role, she files amicus curiae briefs to the United States Supreme Court on behalf of members of the Big Seven in cases involving federalism. Ms. Soronen organizes moot courts for attorneys representing state and local government at the Supreme Court. She also is a resource to Big Seven members on legal issues affecting state and local government, particularly at the Supreme Court level. Prior to joining the SLLC, Lisa worked for the National School Boards Association, the Wisconsin Association of School Boards, and clerked for the Wisconsin Court of Appeals. She is a graduate of Central Michigan University and earned her law degree at the University of Wisconsin Law School.

Professor Heidi Kitrosser joined the University of Minnesota School of Law faculty as an associate professor in 2006, after serving as a visiting associate professor at the Law School from 2005 to 2006. She was an assistant professor at Brooklyn Law School from 2003 to 2006. She also has been a visiting assistant professor at Northwestern University School of Law, the University of Oregon School of Law and Santa Clara Law School. Professor Kitrosser writes primarily about constitutional law, particularly free speech, separation of powers and government secrecy. The subjects that she has taught include constitutional law, First Amendment law, administrative law and civil procedure. Following law school, Professor Kitrosser clerked for Judge William Rea on the District Court for the Central District of California and for Judge Judith Rogers on the United States Court of Appeals for the District of Columbia Circuit. She also worked as an associate at the Washington, D.C., office of Jenner & Block. Professor Kitrosser graduated from UCLA summa cum laude and Phi Beta Kappa, with a bachelor’s degree in political science. She received her law degree from Yale Law School, where during her third year she won the Harlan Fiske Stone Prize for best oral argument in the Morris Tyler Moot Court of Appeals.
